126TH BIRTHDAY OF IOOF LODGE OBSERVED HERE

The meeting of Gettys lodge, No. 124, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Tuesday evening in the lodge rooms, Chambersburg street, was marked by special exercises in observance of the one hundred twenty-sixth anniversary of the founding of the order in America.

The date of the founding was April 26, 1819, when Thomas Wildey, a native of London, England, who had migrated to this country in 1817, inserted an advertisement in the Baltimore American, calling upon members of the parent lodge of Odd Fellows in London to assemble at the Seven Stars inn, in the Monumental City, for the purpose of forming a lodge. In response to the call, sufficient members met to form an organization to be known as Washington lodge, No. 1.

Special Program

In observance of this event the local lodge conducted a special program with the Rev. Dr. D. F. Putman, pastor of Christ Lutheran church, as the speaker.

The speaker prefaced his remarks by stating that in this time of global war addresses naturally touched war activities, and used as the basis of his remarks the ancient Biblical story of the slaying of a man by his brother, who upon being questioned asked the familiar question: "Am I my brother's keeper?"

The speaker said "each of us is his brother's keeper," citing instances in the world's history when it "might have been written differently had nations as well as individuals kept before them the fact that they were."

Lauds Order

He lauded the order "on the splendid work it has accomplished in the more than twelve decades of its existence, striving for the realization of one of its cardinal principles—the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man," to which he pointed as "the only solution of the ills of the world."

The meeting, which followed the regular business session of the lodge, was attended by members of the order and a representation of the Rebekah assembly, auxiliary of the order.

C. A. Heiges presided at the meeting. The invocation was given by J. Frank Dougherty, and closed with prayer and the benediction by the Rev. Dr. Putman.

Following the meeting refreshments were served.

Judge Sheely To Be Memorial Speaker

The annual Memorial Day service, sponsored by the John W. Ocker Post, No. 321, American Legion, will be held Sunday afternoon. The guest speaker will be Judge W. C. Sheely, president judge of the Adams-Pulmon Judicial District.

The parade will form on the Littlestown playground at 2:30 o'clock and proceed to Mt. Carmel cemetery, where the graves of the veterans of all the wars will be strewn with flowers by the school children and the service will take place. The Rev. D. S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, will be in charge of the exercises at the cemetery.

All school children of the public and parochial schools have been asked to take flowers and march in the parade. Members of all civic and fraternal organizations of the town are invited. The Littlestown high school band will furnish music.

"One Man Company" Observes Birthday

Dangerfield Mitchell is celebrating his sixty-third birthday anniversary today. Some years ago C. William Duncan, now with The Philadelphia Inquirer, gave him this title, "The Human Vacuum Cleaner and One Man Company." Today Dangerfield has adopted as his business slogan, "I find the dirt that electricity misses." He celebrated his anniversary by polishing windows at the court house.

Double Power

Washington, May 24 (AP)—Here is a War Bond statement from Vice Admiral Alan G. Kirk, commander, U. S. Naval forces, France:

"A War Bond has a double power. To buy another bond is to strike another blow at the enemy war machine today and drive another rivet in the rising structure of America tomorrow. Present success and future security demand a response from us all."

Sgt. W. B. Mickley Home From Pacific

Staff Sgt. William B. Mickley, home on rotation leave after 34 months in the South Pacific, where he spent 32 months in New Guinea, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Maude Mickley, at Iron Springs. He is due to return to the Army Redistribution Center at the Hotel Dennis, Atlantic City on Tuesday for reassignment.

Sgt. Mickley was inducted into the Army in June, 1941, at New Cumberland and received his training at Camp Wheeler, Ga. During his tour of duty in the South Pacific he served with the 720th M.P. battalion. ## OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN BY GIRL SCOUT LEADERS

The Adams County Girl Scout Leaders' club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Ritter, Littlestown, for an outdoor supper prepared and served by the troop committee of Littlestown.

The group, representing troops from Gettysburg, Littlestown, and York Springs, met formally for the first time and elected the following officers: Mrs. Marian Tupper of York Springs, president; Mrs. Charles Ritter of Littlestown, vice-president; and Mrs. Richard C. Lighter of Gettysburg, secretary-treasurer.

Activities and troop projects in the various communities occupied a large portion of the discussion. Troop No. 1 of Littlestown reported considerable progress in their work for hostess badges, during which much has been learned in the art of table decoration, setting, and flower arrangement.

Redecorate Room

A victory garden has been planted by the girls of Troops No. 2 and 3 of Littlestown, and the Girl Scouts of those troops plan canning demonstrations when the garden has borne fruit.

Work on the handy-woman merit badges by Gettysburg's Cardinal troop in the redecoration of a room in the basement of St. James Lutheran church, which has been going forward under the direction of a skilled painter has produced excellent results and the girls have learned about sanding, painting and varnishing. The troop plans to paint the walls and floor of the room and make a slip cover for an overstuffed chair.

Among other topics under discussion were plans for summer camps and several of the leaders announced their intention of attending a scout leaders' camp and the possibility of acting as counselors at a girl scout camp for the summer.

Major Byron is well known in Gettysburg, having visited friends and relatives here a number of times. He is a first cousin of David J. Forney, now serving overseas in the army. Their mothers were sisters.

Major Byron had just returned to Europe at his own request after his first leave of absence in the States following two years overseas and was enroute to his new assignment when the plane in which he was a passenger crashed.

$3,000 FIRE IN QUAKER VALLEY

Approximately $3,000 damage was done by fire which destroyed the two-story frame dwelling house of Mr. and Mrs. Coffman Shenk, Quaker alley, Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock.

The origin of the fire is uncertain but John Deardorff, Biglerville fire chief, said it was possible that leaking gas fumes became ignited from a furnace fire causing an explosion.

Mrs. Shenk was working in her garden when she heard a light "thud" but thought nothing of it and continued working for several minutes. Later she glanced toward the house and saw flames issuing forth from several windows.

A call was placed for the Biglerville fire company which arrived within 15 minutes. However, the house was beyond saving and firemen used the booster tank to vent nearby buildings to prevent the spread of flames. Sparks set fire to a nearby woods which was quickly extinguished by the firemen.

All household furnishings and clothing were destroyed by the flames which quickly enveloped the entire structure.

The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Shenk are residing temporarily at a previously vacant house near the home of Martin Boyer, Biglerville R. 1.

Nine Million Pounds Of Fire Bombs Blast Tokyo

By LIEF ERICKSON

Guam, May 24 (AP)—Nine million pounds of fire bombs, dropped by more than 550 Superfortresses in the biggest single air blow of the Pacific war, spread fires in Tokyo today which were visible for 200 miles, smashed waterfront railroad yards and aircraft parts shops south of the imperial palace.

One B-29 pilot, Maj. Luther A. Jones, of Monroe, La., reporting direct hits on yards which handle one third of Japan's rail traffic, said on his return from the pre-dawn strike: "I'm afraid they're going to do a hell of a lot of walking."

A brilliant moon and a ring of oil fires set by lead planes illuminated the target area, the Shinagawa industrial section, which is populated by 750,000 of Tokyo's millions and crowded with highly inflammable shops making precision instruments for Nippon's air force.

Pilots saw their incendiaries spread huge fires. Flashes indicated the flames had spread to stores of explosive materials.

Yanks Turn Flanks Of Okinawa Line; Clamp Pincers On Key Point

By HAMILTON FARON

Guam, May 24 (AP)—Leathernecks and doughboys of the 10th Army held the Japanese key fortress of Shuri in a giant cupshaped pincers today as they turned both ends of the Okinawa battle line.

Fierce close-in fighting raged across the entire front as the Yanks increased their pressure, entering Naha on the western flank and expanding gains made at the Yonabaru breakthrough on the east.

In the center, the battle continued unabated as the 77th (Statue of Liberty) Division pressed forward toward the hill line overlooking Shuri. There, a unit assaulting the hills was caught in a murderous cross fire from Japanese cave positions and pinned down.

Repulse Jap Counterattack

Just to the left of the 77th, a battalion of the 96th threw back a fierce Japanese counterattack which penetrated American lines more than a third of a mile before it was stopped with a loss of between 150 and 200 Japanese.

Seventh Division troops expanded their corridor below Yonabaru, increasing the pressure against Shuri on the left and at the same time heightening the threat of complete isolation for Japanese garrisons in the hills of Chinen peninsula commanding Nakagusuku bay, former Japanese fleet anchorage.

The east-west supply lines to the Chinen forces already have been cut.

With mechanized equipment mired in the rear, gains were made on a foot-slogging, slug-it-out basis, but patrols reaching high ground west of Yonabaru reported good tank country beyond.

Patrols of the Sixth Division's Fourth Marine Regiment spearheaded the drive into Naha, rubble strewn Okinawa capital, yesterday, wading the muddy, silt-filled Asato river in a surprise, pre-dawn strike from the northeast.

800-Yard Advance

The initial drive carried as deep as 800 yards into the city, but the tough former Marine raiders and paratroopers who make up the Fourth expect fierce house to house fighting as they move through the bombardment smashed city.

With Naha entered in force, both of Okinawa's main cities and terminals of the Naha-Shuri-Yonabaru defense line have been penetrated. Yonabaru, on the east, with its nearby airstrip, fell to the 96th Infantry Division Tuesday while the 7th made a quick encircling movement by nightfall, isolating it from possible Japanese reinforcement.

Counter attacks are continuing in other parts of the front lines but are being thrown back.

Just west of Conical hill, keypoint on the four-mile east-west defense line, Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th Infantry Division pounded down one counterattack in which the 382nd Regiment killed 150 enemy troops.

Drive For Hills

Near the center of the line the Statue of Liberty (77th) Division is fighting to capture the range of hills guarding the fortress city of Shuri.

On the east coast, Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's Seventh Division—veterans of snowy Attu and steaming Leyte—captured positions and hills 1,200 yards south of Yonabaru, enlarging the area the division dominates on its drive south and west.

E BOND SALES DISCOURAGING

"Reports of sales of E bonds to Adams counties is discouraging," said a member of the county War Finance Committee today in announcing total sales of $240,170.25.

"This is slightly more than one-third our quota of E bonds to individuals in the Mighty Seventh war loan drive and it means that unless we show a tremendous increase in sales of this issue of bonds Adams county will, for the first time since the war started, fail to reach its quota," the official said.

The county quota is $700,000. With sales of $240,170.25 up to noon today there remains $559,829.75 worth of E bonds to reach the allotment for this area.

State Reports

Philadelphia, May 24 (AP)—Pennsylvania's E bond sales rose to $91,400,000 or 31.7 per cent of the state's $288,000,000 quota, in the Seventh War Loan drive with the sale of $3,800,000 reported through Tuesday, G. Ruhland Rebmann, Jr., chairman of the state War Finance Committee, said today.

The E bonds were included in sales of $8,800,000 to individuals, raising total individual sales to $155,600,000 or 39.8 per cent of the state's $390,000,000 quota.

AGED ANTI-NAZI GETS KEY POST IN NEW GERMANY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign News Analyst)

Things are beginning to move in the regeneration of Germany, and one of the most striking developments resolves about the appointment of an aged anti-Nazi German to carry out administration—under American supervision—of a large political unit in the Rhineland.

He is Dr. Hans Fuchs, a public official for many years prior to the Hitler regime, who is to work under Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, military governor and commander of the U. S. 15th Army. Dr. Fuchs' service dates back to the days of Kaiser Wilhelm and he knows his people. It therefore is of prime significance when he tells us:

"My greatest aim is to inculcate a new Christian spirit in our youth, a spirit in which both Catholic and Protestant churches must collaborate in teaching. In a conference with educational leaders of the Rhineland I told them the combined efforts of all of us would be necessary to rid the Nazi thoughts from our people's minds, and in this the Christian church, regardless of creed (Dr. Fuchs is a Catholic), would have to be the leading factor and carry the greatest responsibility."

Must Be Given Back Religion

Dr. Fuchs and his religious views are introduced here because letters are coming to my desk from throughout the country as the result of comment in this column on the remaking of Germany. German reform must, of course, depend on a long and intensive period of education—especially since Hitler paved the way for his barbarities and aggression by depriving German youth of their religion. He knew they wouldn't follow him so long as they held religious principles.

Therefore it's vital that Germany be given back her religion, and this is the burden of the letters. By coincidence I ran across some pertinent comment among notes I made in 1942 on a conversation with the late Dr. William Temple, archbishop of Canterbury, in London. His grace branded Hitler as anti-Christ and told me this story:

"I understand that when Hitler came to power he called in members of the churches for a conference. He told them that he did not want any trouble with them but that he regarded Christianity as a dying thing. He added: 'You go on, but don't interfere with me and I won't interfere with you.'"

"Later he encountered opposition of which Rev. Martin Niemöller is an outstanding example. Then the internment camps were filled with Christians. Hitler is out to destroy Christianity."

Well, Hitler did destroy Christianity in the minds of a host of German youth. But he couldn't shake the faith of people like Niemöller, and it's only a couple of days ago that we heard from this famous Lutheran pastor through Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, who met the German in Rome where the latter has been living since liberation after years of Nazi imprisonment.

Need "Controlled Education"

The bishop said Niemöller saw little possibility of successful collaboration with Germany as a nation until after a "long period of controlled education." Because of the indoctrination of Nazism among Germans between the ages of 22 and 30, the pastor thought the United States should direct its re-education efforts at Germans under 22. Niemöller's name naturally is on many tongues once more, and a letter I've received from a reader of this column asks:

"Is there any other German leadership, we could trust more than that of men like Niemöller?"

The answer clearly is that it's to stalwarts like Niemöller to whom we must look for help in the monumental task of remoulding the character of the German nation.

and rain as well as tenacious Nipponese confronted doughboys. Some of the Yanks have been in action for nearly 130 consecutive days.

300 Tons of Bombs

The 35th regiment of the 25th Division, commanded by Col. Stanley R. Larson, of Talladega, Ala., pushed up Highway Five beyond Baletto toward the mouth of the vital Cagayan valley at Santa Fe village. Planes dropped 300 tons of bombs in support of the drive.

Previous heavy enemy resistance mysteriously melted as Maj. Gen. Charles L. Mullin's tropic lightning division took high ground near Santa Fe against almost no opposition while other elements drove on the town itself. The 27th regiment on a coordinated push gridded for a fight against 25 cave emplacements east of Highway Five but breathed fervent thanks on discovering all were abandoned.

In the watershed area northeast of Manila, a tremendous fire bomb strike enabled the 8th Division to move through acres of Japanese hillside positions. Planes dropped jellied gasoline incendiaries.

TRUMAN SEEKS REORGANIZATION OF EXECUTIVE

Washington, May 24 (AP)—President Truman asked Congress today for legislation enabling him to reorganize the executive branch of the government.

The President called for legislation covering all agencies of the executive branch which would be flexible enough to permit "any form of organizational adjustment, large or small, for which necessity may arise."

The President said that while Congress has legislated "with foresight and wisdom" on plans for orderly conversion from war to peace in other fields, "adequate provision has not yet been made" for conversion of the executive branch of the government.

Need Permanent Adjustments

He said that the first War Powers act and its amendments empowering the President to make necessary adjustments in the organization of the executive branch will expire after the war. With its expiration, "every step" taken under one section of the act will automatically revert to the status existing before the 1941 act. Automatic reversion, he said, will result in the re-establishment of some agencies that should not be re-established, and added:

"Some adjustments of a permanent character need to be made, as exemplified by the current proposal before the Congress with respect to the subsidiary corporations of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Some improvements heretofore made in the government under the first War Powers act, as exemplified by an executive order x x x, should not be allowed to revert automatically or at an inopportune time."

Labor Leaders Are Surprised By Truman

Washington, May 24 (AP)—President Truman drafted a former Senate colleague "with a good voting record" to be Secretary of Labor, apparently without consulting labor's top leaders.

The resignation of soft-spoken Frances Perkins, whom President Roosevelt named as the first woman cabinet member in U. S. history, and her replacement by federal judge Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Spokane, Wash., surprised most labor leaders. They thought the jurist would not take the job.

CIO President Philip Murray, who conferred with Mr. Truman on Tuesday, said after that meeting they did not discuss Schwellenbach. AFL President William Green, who paid two "courtesy calls" on the President in recent weeks, told newsmen the labor post was not mentioned at either.

John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, had no comment, but he has not visited the White House lately.

Railroad Brotherhood officials, long favorable to Schwellenbach, likewise seemed taken by surprise.

School Commission To Study Tax Plans

Harrisburg, May 24 (AP)—The general assembly's school commission was given authority today to develop a new tax program to support public education in Pennsylvania.

Governor Martin signed a bill continuing the 15-member commission for another two years. An appropriation of $50,000 was provided. The bill was passed upon Martin's recommendation. During consideration of legislation increasing teachers' salaries and revising the method of distributing state aid to schools, the Governor suggested the commission should be continued with instructions to present an education revenue program to the 1947 session of the legislature.

Another bill signed requires approval of the state council of education of the name of an organization using the word "college."

Episcopals Select Williamsport For '46

Harrisburg, May 24 (AP)—Williamsport will be the site of the 1946 convention of the Episcopal diocese of Harrisburg, with the meetings fixed for May 21-22.

Bishop John Thomas Heiland said next year's gathering would be held in connection with the observance of the 80th anniversary of the founding of Trinity Episcopal church.

Power of appointment over the four archdeacons who have direction of missions was vested in the bishop yesterday at the closing session of this year's convention. Formerly the archdeacons were elected by the archdeacons.

Wednesday afternoon from the Allison funeral home, Fairfield, for Miss Jane Sherman Scott, 81, who died Monday morning at the Warner hospital from a complication of diseases. The Rev. Harry Ecker officiated. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

The pallbearers were James Donaldson, Frank Donaldson, Sidney Donaldson, William Donaldson, John Mickey and Erman Bucher.

REICH RAILS NOT HARD HIT

Hamburg, May 23 (Delayed) (AP)

Two American railroad men said today German railway officials had told them that Allied bombing of the Reich's rail service would have been more effective if it had been concentrated against main lines rather than the city yards, where repair crews were immediately at hand.

The Americans are Ralph Russell of Haverford and Northumberland, Pa., an official of the Pennsylvania railroad, and his assistant, Warren Caswell of Rockville Center, N. Y.

They said they had been surprised to find the Hamburg railway system actually 95 per cent operative and the electric subway, elevated street car and suburban rail services being run at 60 per cent of the pre-war scale in the much bombed German port.

"Of all the major bombing targets in western Germany we have seen Hamburg least affected in that respect," said Russell. "That, mind you, is on a relative basis, for Hamburg is also by far the largest city. The principal others we have seen include Cologne, Essen, Munster, and Hamm, the latter the largest marshalling yard in Germany."

PRESIDENT TO FLY TO FRISCO

Washington, May 24 (AP)—President Truman will fly to San Francisco to address the concluding session of the United Nations Conference.

The White House said today the chief executive also had under consideration a side trip to the Pacific northwest for a few days of rest and recreation after the conference engagement and would also return to the White House by plane.

His absence from Washington, however, probably will be for less than a week.

Charles G. Ross, press secretary, said the President would arrive in San Francisco a few hours before the time for his speech to the plenary session in the San Francisco opera house, which seats 3,500 persons.

Mr. Truman plans to witness the signing of the World Security charter, then speak for about 15 minutes. The address will be carried over a world-wide radio hookup.

He will leave San Francisco shortly after attending a reception to meet the conference delegates.

Convict Lawyer Of Income Tax Fraud

Seranton, May 24 (AP)—John Memoia, 60, one of Lackawanna county's leading lawyers, was convicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on two counts of evading income tax payments amounting to $27,000 for 1938 and 1939.

Memoia was released under $2,000 bail by Judge William F. Smith, Newark, N. J., specially presiding who also directed that he be forbidden to practice law in federal court. Sentence will be imposed June 19.

The lawyer's trial resulted from an investigation of matters in the Middle Pennsylvania district, under way more than a year.

Rabbit Menace To Gardens Reduced

Harrisburg, May 24 (AP)—A campaign to rid victory gardens of the menace of brer rabbit resulted in nearly 40,000 cottontails being taken alive in Pennsylvania last winter.

The live trapping, supervised by the state game commission, set a new high in catches the previous record being 33,083 rabbits trapped during the winter of 1943-44.

The commission said the rabbits were caught in sections where they caused damage to crops and liberated in areas where public shooting is allowed.

MORTON COOPER IS TRADED TO BOSTON BRAVES

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Sale of Mort Cooper to Boston appears to have scrambled the National league flag race today with strong support going to the Giants. Pirates and Cubs and a couple of stray votes to the newly rich Braves.

Although the big time had a full calendar of eight games yesterday, the big deal between the world champion St. Louis Cardinals and Boston overshadowed the scores.

Not that the "experts" are counting out the Red Birds, for Billy Southworth still has a complete holdover infield and has added a capable pitcher in Charley (Red) Barrett. Although no Cooper off his past record, Barrett has been a dependable starter for Bob Coleman in the hub.

Cards Lost Prestige

But the sudden loss of a No. 1 man like Cooper is bound to give added hope to the front-running Giants and the Chicago and Pittsburgh entries. Ever since the Cards lost Stan Musial the rest of the league has figured the champs were dropping back toward the field and the departure of Cooper made them more certain.

Van Mungo turned in an inspired job for New York's Giants in Cincinnati last night, going all the way without any relief help from Ace Adams for the first time in seven starts as he blanked the Reds, 2-0, with three hits and striking out 10. The Giants got to Bucky Walters for nine blows including three by Manager Mel Ott who boosted his average to .408.

Chicago also benefited by a fine pitching job from the veteran Claude Passeau, who held the Phillies in check while the Bruins plastered Charley Schanz, 5-3, for his sixth straight setback. The alert Cubs worked the old hidden ball trick on the veteran Jimmy Fox to add to the cellarites embarrassment.

Win In 13th

Pittsburgh had to go 13 rounds with Boston before grabbing a 9-8 edge on a single by Rookie Al Gionfriddo. After the Braves spurted with five in the ninth to tie it up, Frankie Frisch called on his ace, Rip Sewell, to hold the fort.

St. Louis popped up with a mound "find" in rookie Jack Creel, making his first starting appearance an easy 11-1 romp past Brooklyn for the Dodgers' fourth straight setback. Homers by Whitey Kurowski and Ray Sanders helped Creel coast home.

Dave Ferriss continued to be the rave of the American league as the Boston Red Sox army discharge rolled up his fifth successive triumph beating St. Louis, 4-1. Ferriss has allowed only three runs and 30 hits in 45 innings.

Floyd Bevens hurled the New York Yankees to a 5-3 edge over the first place Chicago White Sox, clubbing Joe Haynes for five runs in the opening inning. Hal Newhouser struck out 11 Athletics at Detroit, smashed out an impressive 7-1 score against Jesse Flores.

Cleveland continued to move upward by nodding out Washington, 3-2, in a night contest. It was Alie Reynolds' fourth successive success and five out of six for the Indians.

APPLE PICKERS DEFEAT BIGLER

Arendtsville high school's baseball team ended its baseball season Wednesday afternoon by upsetting Biglerville high on the latter's field 7-3.

Errors played a prominent part in the scoring, a total of 11 being committed by the teams.

The Cannons jumped off to a 3-run lead in the second frame but the Arendtsville came back to tie the count in the third, added three more in the fifth and a lone tally in the sixth.

The victory was the seventh in 12 starts for the Apple Pickers and marked Biglerville's second loss in 12 tilts. Biglerville will end its season this afternoon by meeting Littlestown at Biglerville.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, May 24 (AP)—Owner Sam Brandon of the Cardinals evidently decided he couldn't do anything about Mort Cooper's striking way of showing his displeasure with his salary except grin and Barrett. . . And you might add that the Braves were brave in more than one way to take on a guy who has created such a disturbance. . . Still, it's an encouraging note in these days of manpower shortages that Brandon would sell the best pitcher in the league without having two guys almost as good waiting to be moved up from the Minors. . . Long Island's Roosevelt raceway will have 100 nights of continuous harness racing this summer because someone thought of organizing the Cedar Point trotting association to operate between the old country association's meetings. Al Valentine will run the show for both outfits.

A Chicago reporter (after interviewing baseball commissioner Happy Chandler): "Happy took the bat, hit the ball on the nose and now is running all over hell looking for first base."

Pacific coast leaguers are telling a yarn about Ken Hicks, who came right out of the army to pitch for Los Angeles. . . During a tight ball game, Hicks had a runner on first and was ready to pitch to the next batsman when the loud speaker boomed out: "Attention, please. The next. . ." At the word "attention" Ken froze into the proper military posture. The umpire called it a balk and sent the runner to second.

New Players Star As Allentown Wins

Bob Matthews, a right-hander sent to Allentown by Columbus of the American Association, and Pete Prunczik, an outfielder from the same club, teamed up in their debut with the Redbirds in the Interstate league to defeat the Hagerstown Owls 9-2 at Allentown last night.

Matthews scattered nine Hagerstown hits, and although his mates got only eight off the combined offerings of three Owl hurlers, Prunczik collected three of these, including a home run and a double, to bat in four Allentown runs.

Bob Doak, Southpaw starter for Hagerstown, was sent to the showers in the third inning for protesting too vigorously after he had yielded seven of Allentown's nine runs.

The Wilmington Blue Rocks won both ends of an Interstate league twin bill from the York White Roses, taking the seven-inning opener 10-6 and an 11-inning nightcap 7-6.

The Lancaster Red Roses blanked the Trenton Spartans 5-0 at Lancaster. Les McCrabb, former Philadelphia Athletics hurler, limited the visitors to six hits and struck out 8 men.

Today's schedule: York at Wilmington. Hagerstown at Allentown, Trenton at Lancaster.

Proof

You prove your pudding by eating it, but if you want to know the proof of whiskey you will find it on the label on the bottle. But there are many people who don't know just exactly what whiskey proof means. The explanation is quite simple. It requires only a little, quick mental arithmetic.

The easiest way to explain it is to say that "proof" means double percent alcohol, i.e., when a label tells you that the bottle's contents is 100 proof, it means 50% alcohol, by volume; 90 proof, then, would mean 45%; and 86 proof means that the whiskey contains 43% alcohol, by volume.

There is a definite trend to lighter, lower proof alcoholic beverages, both in this country and in the British Empire, and this trend to lightness is not confined entirely to whiskey. People seem to go in for lighter food; they wear lighter clothing (remember the red flannels of yesteryear?), and they smoke lighter, blended cigarettes. And the cars we drive today are lighter, and so are our railroad trains and coaches, due to lighter alloys (blends) in place of the old, heavy iron.

And I think you should know, too, that there is no relation between proof and quality in an alcoholic beverage. Proof tells you how strong the whiskey is in alcohol content by volume, but quality is more or less a personal matter of which you alone are the sole judge.

What really inspired this piece was the chuckle we got from a friend who thought that 100 proof meant 100%, which, of course, it doesn't. He remembered his spelling tests when he was a schoolboy. His teacher marked his paper 100% when he had all the words right; and if he missed a couple he got 90% or 85%, which was pretty good, but it wasn't perfect. (Don't let that fool you when it comes to "proof.")

Today's Talk

NEIGHBORS ALL

One of the great causes for this latest and most tragic of all wars has been that we never got near enough to one another as neighbors. Now, with half of this beautiful world in chaos and ruin, it is going to take all the high and superior courage left in the world to repair and knit together again the hopes and spiritual urges of the human race.

Through the inventiveness of man, we are now brought together as neighbors as never before. We are one world of neighbors. Contact of voice and physical presence is as though but a few miles separated the most distant of peoples, races and nations! It's about time that we became good neighbors. There should be no space available for greed, jealousy or hatred among any of us—since we are neighbors in a very closely knitted world—one world.

In one of those intimate talks that Jesus was wont to have with those about him, the subject of neighbors came up, and one of his listeners bluntly asked: "Who is my neighbor?" The reply of Jesus was, in substance, that anyone who acted justly and with love in his heart toward his fellowman, and who looked upon God as the Father of us all—was anyone's neighbor—and a good one, at that.

No one is a good neighbor who has resentment in his heart against the one near to him. The nation that secretly carries within its governmental life any evil designs against another nation, near or far, is not a good neighbor to have. It is the prayer of us all that now, with the example of a stricken world before our eyes, caused by the bad neighbor policy, we may come to our senses and learn that to become a good neighbor among ourselves and among all nations is the only safe and sensible road to a perpetual peace throughout the world.

We need to be imbued with the idea that we are all neighbors—and why not be good ones? Nothing is lost thereby, and everything is gained. We ought not to envy our neighbor's fine-looking garden, but to be inspired by it, to make ours just as good! Happy neighbors don't pick a fight over anything.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Specialized Sinners."

Men Over 30 Who Quit Essential Jobs To Be Called

Harrisburg, May 24 (AP)—Draft registrants 30 years and over who have been reclassified I-A because they quit essential jobs without permission of their local board still face immediate induction into the army.

Lt. Col. Clarence H. Hartman, deputy state director, in making that statement yesterday, said there were a number of men throughout the state in that category, who would not be affected by the new liberalized draft policy.

"They will be inducted as usual and previous regulations will continue to apply in such cases," he said.

Under the new policy for deferment of registrants 30 and over in useful occupations, state headquarters previously ordered local boards to postpone induction of men in that age group pending a review of their status.

OLD MANDATES FORM PROBLEM FOR CONFERENCE

By JAMES MARLOW

San Francisco, May 24 (AP)—The whole problem of mandates and trusteeships is red hot now in the United Nations Conference. But here's a trick question.

What happens to the mandates of the League of Nations when the new world organization is set up and the old league folds? Take it step by step.

The Allies in World War I took a lot of territory from Germany and Turkey. This included Syria, Iraq, Palestine, colonies in Africa, islands in the Pacific.

The big Allied powers in that war—United States, Britain, France, Italy and Japan—all had joint title to each piece of seized territory.

New Trusteeships?

All five together couldn't administer each piece of territory. So, in each case the five titleholders arranged for one to be administrator. This arrangement was called putting a country under mandate.

But all the mandates came under the old League of Nations.

Now a United Nations organization is being formed. Territory seized from the enemy, principally Japan, will in many cases be placed under a mandate system but the diplomats won't call it a mandate.

No United Nation which has seized enemy territory will have to place it under trusteeship. It can suit itself about that. Thus some of the Japanese islands seized by the United States might not be placed under trusteeship.

Old League May Meet

But—what happens to those old mandates when the old league no longer exists? Does a mandatory power—once the old League is gone—put its mandate under the trusteeship system or does it merely say:

"The old League is dead. The mandate arrangement died with it. Therefore, we won't put our mandate under trusteeship. We'll merely scrap the mandate set-up and take full possession of this mandate which we have been administering."

Of course, Italy and Japan wouldn't have anything to say about it. They were the enemies of the United States, Britain and France in this war.

At the peace conference they will be forced to give up any title to mandates of the first World War. That will leave only the United States, Britain and France with joint title to mandated territory.

Another meeting of the old League of Nations may be necessary to clear up some of the problems involving the mandated territory of World War I, although the United States didn't belong to that League.

Churchill says there must be no let-up. Salvaging waste paper is a war job everyone can do. Be sure all of your waste paper is sent to war.

Claim OPA Is Unfair To Coal Operators

Washington, May 24 (AP)—Two western Pennsylvania congressmen declared today the OPA is unfair to soft coal operators.

Reps. Kelley and Weiss, both Democrats, said in an interview they have failed to "get any satisfaction" out of the OPA. They said that they had asked price increases to make up for new wage adjustments in the industry.

But an OPA spokesman told a reporter that any mine losing money as a result of the new wage and price rates may obtain an adjustment to bring it up to the "break-even point."

Kelley, himself a mine operator producing about 700 tons of coking coal daily near Mammouth, (Pa.), said the 14-cents-a-ton increase authorized by the OPA for western Pennsylvania deep mine operators contrasted with labor cost increases of "from 18 to 30 cents a ton."

GAVIN ATTACKS RECORD OF OWI

Washington, May 24 (AP)—Rep. Gavin (R-Pa.) today demanded abolition of the office of war information and the office of strategic services.

"We have been patient now for many years on a lot of this psychological stuff," Gavin said in a statement inserted in the congressional record. "Let's get back to that good old American common sense."

He said "The assistant" to OWI Director Elmer Davis is "none other than foreign-born George Taylor who never applied for his American citizenship until he caught on with OWI and landed on the payroll some time after Pearl Harbor."

"Certainly there must have been some able American who could have been assistant to Mr. Davis," he added. "x x x evidently American news writers do not rate too high with the doctor (Davis)."

"Everything today here in Washington is pro-British. A lot of stuffed shirts in the various departments think more about an invitation from the British for tea and cocktails than looking after Uncle Sam's interests."

Gavin said the office of strategic services is "dominated and directed in the far east by Lt. Col. Lynn M. Coffee of the British army."

The congressman praised the work of Byron Price, director of the office of censorship, and said this agency, along with the army and navy, should take over the handling of war news.

COURT PONDER'S TEACHER CASE

Harrisburg, May 24 (AP)—Power of dismissal under terms of the state Teacher Tenure Act came before the state Supreme Court for clarification just prior to the close of the tribunal's May term.

The jurists heard on their own motion re-argument in the case of Bertha Spigelmeier, Swissvale, on her plea that the North Braddock school board lacked authority to remove her from her post as clerk.

Harrington Adams, deputy attorney general, told the court yesterday the former teacher did not have "an enforceable contract" since it was not drawn in strict compliance with the action of the board in appointing her to the post.

Last April, in Pittsburgh, Chief Justice George W. Maxey handed down an opinion affirming the judgment of the Allegheny county Court of Common Pleas which held she was not a professional employee and had no rights under tenure.

Justices Marion D. Patterson and Charles Alvin Jones dissented at the time.

The court continued until the November term argument on the Commonwealth's appeal from a Dauphin county court decision over renewal of licenses for out of state automobile insurance companies.

Another continuance was granted in argument on right of the Milk Control Commission to fix a one-half cent differential for cash and carry milk in the Pittsburgh area.

Juniata Announces Commencement Plans

In the afternoon, the president and Mrs. Ellis will receive at the senior reception which will be followed by the traditional Vespers on Round Top and a cantata—the Holy City—to be presented by the a cappella choir, under the direction of Prof. Charles L. Roland.

The annual Alumni Day, Saturday, May 26, will be highlighted by the luncheon at which Dr. Martin Allen Brumbaugh, president of the Juniata Alumni association, will speak. S. K. Stevens, state historian, will appear as guest speaker at the Friends of the Library tea on Saturday afternoon.

A senior recital will be presented on Friday evening, and on Saturday evening there will be a concert by the college orchestra. Class day activities will follow the orchestra concert on Saturday evening.

Turning Weeds Into Profit

Weeds not only rob cultivated plants of soil moisture and nourishment by direct competition, but their evil effects are believed to extend further, perhaps including the introduction of toxic properties into the soil and thereby retarding plant vigor. In fact, investigations prove that weeds take a toll beyond their actual consumption of moisture and plant foods. In this respect their curse should be entirely avoided. But eradication of weeds or even partial control is possible and every farmer and gardener may utilize weeds for improving the soil.

For practical consideration weeds are divided into two main groups—annuals and perennials. Annual weeds grow, of course, only from seed. Control of this group depends on preventing the plants from maturing their seed crops. Annual weed extermination is a continual task of pulling, cutting and plowing under and other direct methods of removal throughout the growing season and always with emphasis on destruction before their seed ripens. Perennial weeds must be combated by the same processes plus the removal of the perennial underground parts which, in addition to their seeds, produce new growth each spring.

Immature weeds make excellent green manure, comparable in soil-improving value to wheat, oats, rye, rape and most other non-leguminous crops. This fact often eludes the farmer and gardener and they thereby miss the opportunity to transform at least a small portion of the curse into a blessing. A handy compost heap is the vehicle.

Use For Weeds

An idle fence row or unused nook in or near the garden is an ideal place for a compost heap. Choose a site where the material will be exposed to rain. Here all grass clippings, weeds (immature), vines and other green vegetation known to be free from stalk borers and communicable plant disease should be piled as they are available. If the top of the heap is kept slightly indented it will catch and hold rain. Occasionally a pailful of water may be added. If fertile soil is added in alternate layers with the vegetation, decay will be hastened. Toward the end of the summer or any time before winter the entire heap should be turned inside out, with all outer and least decayed materials turned toward the bottom and center of the new heap.

Cabbage refuse and debris of garden beans, cucumbers, squashes, melons and cantaloupes should not be used in compost heaps because of disease dangers. Too, it is wise to discard any vegetation infected with mildew. Corn stalks may be cut up fine and added if the European corn borer is not present.

"But why go to all this trouble in disposing of weeds?" asks the busy gardener.

Most garden soils lack organic matter—humus, more accurately described as decayed vegetable matter. This is Nature's sole material for making soils. It is the life-giving property that imparts moisture-holding power to soils. It provides drainage in wet weather; it renders hard soils mellow and shallow soils deep. Without organic matter no plant growth would be possible.

Therefore, when the gardener may eradicate weeds and at the same time turn them into priceless organic matter he plays a dual role of wisdom and practical soil rejuvenation. It is an opportunity to avoid ultimate soft impoverishment.

★ About that old prescription Dr. Jones wrote for you two years ago. The bottle is on the shelf in your medicine cabinet, about one-fourth full. It would be safer for you and your family to discard it. Someone might take it by mistake, or a child may be attracted to it by the bright color and do himself harm. Many medicines deteriorate after exposure to light and air. On long standing, some compounds change their chemical structure. Yes, the safe thing to do is to throw it away. If illness again overtakes you, see your doctor. Bring his prescriptions to us for accurate compounding.

TRUMAN MAKES THREE CABINET SHIFTS; MISS PERKINS GOES

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Washington, May 24 (AP)—President Truman stood pat today on a four-way cabinet reshuffle that gave the west added prestige and subtracted age.

Mr. Truman named new secretaries of agriculture and labor and a new attorney general late yesterday as a followup to his earlier designation of Robert E. Hannegan, 41, to replace 59-year-old Postmaster general Frank C. Walker.

There were indications that no further shifts in the 10-member presidential family are imminent.

Miss Perkins Goes
Political observers viewed the selections as retaining a somewhat "liberal tinge" to the cabinet, alive and pro-Roosevelt factions in the cabinet and pro-Roosevelt factions in the cabinet and pro-Roosevelt factions in the cabinet.

The shuffling removed this country's first woman cabinet member, Miss Frances Perkins, 63, who has been in her post more than 12 years. In her place Mr. Truman put Federal Judge Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Washington state, 50-year-old former senator and close friend of the President.

Rep. Clinton P. Anderson, 49-year-old New Mexican who heads the special house food investigating committee and who, like Schwellenbach, supported most Roosevelt proposals, was named secretary of agriculture in place of Claude Wickard, 52. The latter was designated rural electrification administrator.

"Moving Off the Hudson"
Anderson also will take over the duties of the war food administration as soon as Marvin Jones returns to the U. S. court of claims bench June 30. Jones suggested the merger.

Noting the geographical background of the four new cabinet members—all from west of the Mississippi—Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) observed to newsmen:

"The government is moving off the Hudson river—it's been there a long time."

President Roosevelt, who long relied on easterners in his official family, at one time had four New Yorkers in his cabinet at the same time.

Favorable Reaction
Congressional comment on yesterday's appointments was uniformly favorable.

Mr. Truman started the 178 newsmen attending his news conference yesterday when he announced calmly that he had some cabinet changes to report. They had been looking only for the acceptance of the Biddle resignation.

A reporter asked if Treasury Secretary Morgenthau had offered his resignation yesterday. Mr. Truman said he had not and that if Morgenthau had it would not have been accepted.

In response to another question, the Chief Executive said he contemplated making no change in the State department portfolio, now held by Edward R. Stettinius, Jr.

Eastern Loop Clubs End Losing Streaks

(By The Associated Press)
The extended home stands of the Albany Senators and the Hartford Laurels haven't helped their Eastern league standings but the managers of both teams are hopeful that their respective losing streaks have been snapped.

Albany downed Elmira 7-1 last night to break a three-game losing streak and climb from fifth to third in the standings. Hartford, after four straight losses, nipped Williamsport 4 to 3. Weather conditions caused postponement of two other league games.

national Roosevelt cabinet of 1933. Other holdovers in addition to Morgenthau, 54, and Stettinius, 45, are War Secretary Stimson, 77, Navy Secretary Forrestal, 53, and Commerce Secretary Wallace, 57.

All the new appointments, subject to Senate confirmation, are effective June 30 next, except that of Anderson, who will succeed to the agriculture post when Wickard is confirmed as REA chief.

Future plans of Biddle and Miss Perkins were not known today. Friends of the attorney general, however, said he probably would resume the practice of law if he does not accept a diplomatic post.

HOPKINS, DAVIES GOING ABROAD FOR PRESIDENT

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Washington, May 24 (AP)—President Truman sent two trusted emissaries to London and Moscow today.

Presumably they will open preliminary negotiations looking to ultimate "Big Three" settlement of grave international issues involving the United Nations.

Harry L. Hopkins, recently bedridden confidante of President Roosevelt, is en route on a new mission to Moscow. Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Russia, is headed for London for conferences with Prime Minister Churchill.

Bold Moves Ahead
These developments, announced by the White House late yesterday, followed earlier disclosure that Mr. Truman had decided to make a personal visit to San Francisco to address the closing session of the United Nations Conference.

Following up yesterday's talk at the White House with Secretary of State Stettinius, two recent conferences with former State Secretary Hull and meetings with diplomats of most of the United Nations, they added up to the conclusion that the Chief Executive is preparing to move boldly into the international scene.

Since he entered the White House April 12, Mr. Truman has taken every opportunity to acquaint himself with the full details of Mr. Roosevelt's dealings with Moscow and London.

At last week's news conference, the President announced that he hoped to arrange a meeting soon with Premier Stalin and Mr. Churchill.

Gets Along With Stalin
Similar hope was expressed the same day by the British Prime Minister.

MRS. MORRISON'S Chocolate Pudding
You add a little sugar but you get a full quart inter, but since that time, there has been only silence from Moscow.

This raised speculation today whether Hopkins, in his forthcoming talks with Stalin, and Davies, in his conferences with Churchill, would be able to pave the way for an early "Big Three" get-together, possibly arranging a date, and, more difficult, a site.

Hopkins, one-time Commerce Secretary and WPA head, is said to get along well with Stalin, whom he has met on several occasions. He went with Mr. Roosevelt to many international meetings, including the February Yalta conference. Davies made two diplomatic missions to Moscow for the late President after service as ambassador there.

was postponed because of cold weather and wet grounds. Cold weather forced postponement of the Wilkes-Barre-Binghamton game.

What You Buy With WAR STAMPS

What wouldn't we give to be aboard one of those sleek destroyers as she speeds over the seas in search of U-Boats or hovers around a precious troop transport? All of us can't have the honor of serving our country as destroyer crews. All of us, however, can help pay for fuel to drive our destroyers on their missions.

War Stamps pay for the fuel for every mile a destroyer travels. Every school child thus can take part in the work of our sea guardians. Through the Treasury Department's Schools At War duration program pupils of our elementary and high schools may set goals for themselves. Wouldn't you have a satisfied feeling if you knew your War Stamp purchases were pushing some destroyer along at least a mile every week?

Chapter 7 The elevator stopped and a voice from the opposite doorway brought Kay back to reality. "Look, Tommy! Here's Dr. Warner," a nurse called.

Kay glanced into the room. A thin child about eight years old with braces on his feet sat in a wheel chair. His mother, with faded anxious eyes and fluttering hands, was standing over him.

Tommy caught sight of Kay before the nurse closed the door. "Oh, Miss Kay," he cried, his eyes bright with excitement, "here's Dr. Warner, who's gonna make me walk again."

Kay paused and smiled at him. "I'll say he is!" she agreed.

"Come on in," the child insisted eagerly, "and I'll tell you how I'm gonna capture all his enemies and yours, too, when I get well."

"Later, old timer," Kay promised. "Dr. Warner is here to see you on important business. You wouldn't want him to throw me out, would you?" She raised her hand in a gay salute and Tommy responded ecstatically.

Kay hurried down the hall, uttering a silent prayer that Dr. Warner's brilliant mind and skillful hands could work the miracle of making Tommy walk again. She had almost forgotten her own troubles as she tapped eagerly on the door of Dr. Sims' office.

Dr. Sims was a tall thin man with white hair. He had served the villagers since the time of Godfrey Lambert, and everyone vowed his heart was the size of his body. Now the years were demanding their toll, and he was often ill. Yet he came to his office and went on his calls as regularly as he had for two-score years.

Kay was quick to note his drawn face and his fragile appearance. "You aren't well, Dr. Sims," she exclaimed, "I was afraid of it when I didn't see you at the reception."

"Oh, I'm all right," he answered testily. "Don't come snooping around here trying to find something wrong with me. Sit down." He indicated a large black leather chair that Kay had sat in for these visits all her life. "What's on your mind?"

"I'm thinking of Dr. Warner right now," she said, with the easy assurance of an old friend. "I hope he can help Tommy."

"Tommy is—well rather special to us both, isn't he, Kay?"

"Yes, indeed," she said warmly. "I adore him."

"Well, he needs you with him during the time he'll be at Warm Springs before his operation," Dr. Sims explained. "You have so much influence with him—you can give him real courage where no one else can."

"You mean you want me to go to Warm Springs and stay during that time?"

"Yes, Dr. Warner will be there too. He wants to be available continuously for consultation with Dr. resident surgeon."

"Of course," Kay replied without hesitation. "I like the idea of getting away right now."

"I thought so," he agreed. "And it's settled. In fact, I was so sure you'd go, I've already assured Dr. Warner of it. He asked about you after hearing Tommy's stories about you."

"So, my fame has preceded me," Kay said, and laughed. She was close to being happy now. There was work to do—Katherine's kind of work. And she'd be away from Lucia.

Kay stood. "I must go back to the reception," she told him. "The workers from the other shift have come in by now, and Jimmy probably thinks I've dropped dead!"

"Come back in the morning, Kay," Dr. Sims suggested. "Dr. Warner will be here and you two can discuss your plans for leaving next week."

There was an unusual stir in the children's clinic in the Katherine Lambert Memorial Hospital. Tommy Martin was leaving for the Warm Springs Foundation. Kay pushed Tommy up and down the hall where he might wave farewell to everyone and enjoy the flurry of importance which his departure was creating.

Later he was wheeled out to the entrance of the hospital where Dr. Sims and Dr. Warner were waiting with nurses to make him comfortable for the two-hours' drive to Warm Springs. It was obvious to them all that Tommy had made up his mind to say good-bye to Dr. Sims by manfully shaking hands with him. His determination held until the very last minute when he forgot his recently acquired manhood. He reached up his thin arms and clung frantically to his old friend. "No, no!" he sobbed. "I don't want to go. Let me stay here with you."

Dr. Sims looked appealingly at Kay as he held Tommy's small body close, but it was Dr. Warner who patted Tommy's shoulder and said:

"Of course, old man, we know how you feel." He turned to Kay and asked in the tone of one seeking vital information, "Do you remember how Leonidas cried before he left to go fight his battles?"

Tommy's deperate hold on Dr. Sims relaxed and he looked around. "Are you sure Leonidas cried?" he asked.

"Why, certainly, Kay assured him as she seated herself on the front seat of Dr. Warner's sedan. "You understand, of course, that he cried for only a few seconds, just as many brave men do."

"Well—Tommy turned to Dr. Warner—"I guess I'm ready." He held out his hand to Dr. Sims, who shook it with great solemnity.

Dr. Warner arranged the pillows on the back seat so that Tommy could lie there comfortably against the motion of the car. "How's that, old man?" he asked.

"Fine," Tommy said gratefully and shyly. "Thanks, Doctor."

Relates 'Special Torture' Methods Used By Germans

Phoenixville, Pa., May 24 (AP)—One hundred and ten days of forced marches, with only four or five nights of uninterrupted sleep, is one experience Sgt. Stephen G. Sitko, of Sellersville, Pa., is trying to forget.

Sgt. Sitko was captured in the "battle of the bulge," and after that saw at first hand what he calls "German psychological torture."

"A favorite method was to awaken us in the middle of the night, line us up in front of the barracks and make us stand there for two or three hours," says Sitko, now a patient at Valley Forge Memorial hospital here.

"We had only four or five nights of uninterrupted sleep during en-

WORKER BURIED IN SLIDE

Scranton, Pa., May 24 (AP)—Five bulldozers and a dragline were used last night to remove thousands of tons of rock and coal to recover the body of Anthony Calatzi, a steam shovel operator, who was caught in a slide at an anthracite stripping at Pell township near here.

He said a number of American prisoners of war died during train trips from one camp to another, during which, in one instance, the Germans loaded 78 of them into a box car and kept them confined for 38 hours.

Sitko lost 60 pounds during his imprisonment, but has gained back almost 30.

Never don clothes until 5 or 10 minutes after applying anti-perispirants or skin lotions.

Transit Strike In Scranton Goes On

Scranton, Pa., May 24 (AP)—Scranton's transit strike continued today after a lengthy conference yesterday between company and union officials ended without an agreement.

The anthracite area has been without bus and trolley service since Sunday when more than 400 employees walked out in what they termed was a controversy over pay increases and schedules.

Union officials blamed the company with collapse of negotiations, the company did not issue a statement.

EMMITSBURG OFFICERS HOME FROM PACIFIC

Emmitsburg. — Two Emmitsburg boys are home on leave from the South Pacific. Lt. (j.g.) Emmet Norris, USNR Ordnance Division is spending a 30-day leave with his wife and his parents, Prof. and Mrs. Thomas Norris. Lt. Norris has been in the South Pacific area for 22 months, being stationed at Samoa for 11 months. He is a graduate of Mt. St. Mary's college.

Lt. Harry Schwartz, USNR is on 21-day leave at the home of Mrs. Marie Gionger Rial. Lt. Schwartz is also a graduate of Mt. St. Mary's college and husband of the former Miss Aileen Rial. Lt. Schwartz commands an assault beach party in the amphibious forces. He wears the South Pacific Asiatic Ribbon with 9 stars indicating 9 major battles.

He has seen action on nearly all the recaptured islands of the Pacific, the Marianas, Okinawa, Guam, Peleliu and the Philippines.

He wears the Philippine medal for engagement in the first assault on the islands. Lt. Schwartz was also awarded the Purple Heart for a wound received in the lower leg during the battle for Leyte. He was treated by Marine doctors on the Leyte shore and then on board a Navy ship until returned to active duty.

Lt. Schwartz spoke highly of the valor of the Marines. When asked about the diet of the men in battle he replied that the food is always good, although he has lost his taste for shrimp due to a last minute change in invasion plans. The force had to leave port ahead of schedule and instead of the regular rations usually assigned each ship, whatever was at hand had to be taken. Lt. Schwartz was on the ship that received 10 tons of shrimp. The crew and officers ate shrimp for breakfast, dinner and supper until the invasion point was reached.

Both Lt. Schwartz and Lt. Norris have orders to return to the South Pacific.

The Over the Tea Cups sewing club met at the home of Mrs. Olga Houser Monday. The Entire Nous sewing club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. E. L. Higbee.

Miss Maude Fry had a fall in which she broke three bones in her left ankle. She was taken by ambulance to the Warner hospital, but has since returned to her home.

Mrs. Hazel Caldwell, Miss Sarah Edwards and Miss Elizabeth Shoemaker, teachers at the local high school, spent last week-end in New York.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Lynch spent the week-end with Mrs. Harry Boyle.

Mrs. John L. Sheridan, president of Mt. St. Mary's college, consecrated four of the five altars in the college chapel on last Saturday at 8:30 a. m. The authority was conferred by Archbishop Michael J. Curley of the Baltimore and Washington Archdiocese, who has been ill. True relics were placed in each altar.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roddy, Jr., attended the annual dinner of the Farm Bureau Insurance company at the Vindabona hotel, Braddock Heights, Tuesday evening.

"Fit" Congressman Not So Fit Today

Washington, May 24 (AP)—Rep. Weiss (D-Pa.), who not long ago challenged colleagues to physical fitness contests in the House gym, couldn't even chin himself once today.

Preparing to go overseas on a mission for the House postoffice committee, Weiss got his immunizing shots. Then the trip was postponed at the request of Speaker Rayburn, and here Weiss is a stay-at-home with two sore arms.

It was while pressing for adoption of a national physical fitness program that Weiss challenged house members to chinning contests. This, he said, would prove how out of condition the lawmakers had become. A big-time football official in the fall, he was sure of his own fitness.

At the moment, however, he's not so sure. "These sore arms," he moaned, with a gesture which brought a sudden flash of pain across his face, "even interfere with my talking."

NEWSPAPERMAN DIES

Foodstuffs Periled By Work Stoppage

Pittsburgh, May 24 (AP)—Four major cold storage plants today sought replacements for 265 employees who walked out yesterday in their second work stoppage in a week, halting movement of tons of foodstuffs.

J. E. Davis, spokesman for the companies, said they regarded the workers as having quit. When James Matoney, business agent for the Grocery and Food Warehousemen's Union (AFL), said the men would return to work, Davis declared they would not be permitted to do so.

Matoney said such a refusal would "constitute a lockout."

Davis said two replacements had been hired but many more would be needed.

"It is up to the War Manpower Commission and the army to see that we get the workers we need to prevent spoiling of between 65,000,000 and 75,000,000 pounds of meats, fruits, vegetables, lard and other perishable commodities," Davis said.

ARMY ORDERS DELAYED Monongahela, Pa., May 24 (AP)—The 50 idle workers of the Liggett Spring & Axle Co. have been summoned for a meeting tonight to discuss returning to their jobs. Francis Pauley, president of the United Steelworkers union, issued the call at the request of army Capt. Charles Gause, who said the four-day work stoppage had halted delivery of 10-ton trailer parts urgently needed by the army at Long Island City, N. Y.

The average man needs about 70 grams of protein in his day's food.

St. Joseph's Senior Listed For Address

Miss Mary Eberhart, president of Conewago Deaneery council, of the National Council of Catholic Women, has arranged for Miss Eileen Rodgers, senior at St. Joseph's college, to speak in the youth session of the deaneery Sunday, June 3, at St. Ignatius church, Buchanan Valley.

The Rev. Thomas O'Connor, formerly of Niagara university, and now instructor at St. Joseph's college, and Dr. Adolph Wasilifsky, head of the division of languages and literature department of the college, will also take part in the program.

MORE GAS FOR MOTORISTS OF NATION SOON

Washington, May 24 (AP)—Uncle Sam gave the signal today for more gasoline for the nation's motorists. Relieved of the task of pouring thousands of barrels daily to European battlefronts, the government announced a 50 per cent increase in basic "A" rations, effective June 22, and a substantial boost for many "B" drivers beginning June 11.

This means that the new A-16 coupons will be good for six gallons each instead of four. Motorists thus will be able to obtain an average of three gallons a week rather than two.

The change in the "B" ration increases the ceiling for supplementary gasoline to 650 miles a month throughout the country. Currently the top allowance is 325 miles in the east, 475 in the midwest and 400 in the far West.

Not All "B's" Effected In announcing these ration hikes last night, the OPA and the Petroleum administration for war emphasized that not all "B" drivers will be eligible for increases.

Those who can show an occupational need for more, in addition to the "A" hike, will be able to present their case to local ration boards beginning June 11, OPA Administrator Chester Bowles said.

As for "A" coupons, they will continue to become valid in series of six and will be good three months as at present. The only difference is they will be honored for 50 per cent more gasoline.

The new adjustment of allotments marks the first time since the start of gasoline rationing in 1942 that the entire country has been on an equal footing in both "A" and potential "B" grants.

GOETHE'S HOUSE REMAINS AFTER BOMB DAMAGE

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

Weimar, Germany (AP)—The magic name of Wolfgang von Goethe, greatest literary genius of all time in the opinion of Prof. Hans Julius Wahl, custodian of the Goethe and Johann von Schiller archives, can continue to attract devotees of liberalism to Weimar once peace again is established.

Although blockbusters fell only a short distance from the house where Goethe spent 50 years of his life, most of his home was spared the ravages of bombing.

"The Goethehaus was empty at the time of the bombings," Wahl said. "All the furniture, original manuscripts, paintings, busts, china and other mementoes had been taken to bombproof shelters and are intact. Nine of the ten garret rooms are gone and the so-called urbinio room is damaged beyond repair."

Restoration Plans "Most important, however, is that the room where Goethe died, his study, the Juno room and the servant quarters can be restored easily. All the books of his 5,000 volume library are safe as well as his collection of minerals, his physical experimental instruments and the results of his researches into color.

"Just as soon as the necessary repairs are made we can restore the rooms exactly as they looked when the war broke out."

Wahl said the removal of the remains of Goethe and Schiller to Jena, whence they were brought back last week on the orders of the military government, occurred without his knowledge.

Everything in Schiller's home also was taken to safety, Wahl said. While badly battered, the rooms can be restored, experts said.

Young Thief Slain By Policemen's Fire

Pittsburgh, May 24 (AP)—A young thief who stayed behind to collect the silver after his companion fled with the paper money lay in the morgue today.

He was shot and killed last night by policemen whom a passerby summoned to a cafe on Liberty avenue.

Morgue officials said draft registration and social security cards gave the man's name as Henry Samuel Burgess, of Pittsburgh, and Washington, D. C.

Flashing guns, the two robbers cowed employees and workmen. As the first bandit fled, Patrolmen Michael Walsh, 60, and Stephen Raydiek, 41, dashed into the bar.

The officers said Burgess fired two shots, but was killed in the return fire.

"CARETAKER" GOVERNMENT BEING PICKED

By EDWARD J. DENNEHY

London, May 24 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill began today the task of choosing the members of his new "caretaker government," as sections of the London press saluted the now dissolved coalition which under his leadership piloted Britain through five perilous years.

Political correspondents of London newspapers agreed generally that the Prime Minister would have most of the cabinet offices filled by the week-end, and that the new interim government would be ready to meet when Commons sits again next Tuesday.

With Labor and Liberal ministers leaving the cabinet, the independent Daily Mail predicted that "several junior ministers who have done good work during the war will be promoted to cabinet rank and posts will be found for those on war service."

Resigned to King Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee, Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin, Home Secretary Herbert Morrison and other Labor leaders, now at a Labor party conference at Blackpool, were expected to hand over their seals of office to the King by Monday.

With Britain facing serious international and domestic problems, the 70-year-old Prime Minister formally

Leaves From
Diary Of War
Correspondent

By WADE WERNER
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)
Germany, May 22 (AP) — That whimsical Gilbert and Sullivan line "the policeman's lot is not a happy one" should be applied with sardonic emphasis to the German civilian police under American military government.

Many of them are still under 70, some perhaps only 50, but alongside the strapping young American MP's they look singularly old and tired. One reason for the grandfatherly impression they make as a group is that the Germans put practically every able bodied man into the army, leaving a rather elderly lot for police duty. When the military government took over there was a rigorous weeding out of all Nazis from the municipal provincial police forces. To fill the ranks of the new civilian police the military government had to reach back for veterans on the retired list, some of whom had not walked a beat since Hitler came into power.

Can't Carry Arms
None of these policemen is permitted to carry arms. In some towns they function in the same uniforms as before the American occupation but with the white MG arm band. In most places they work in civilian clothes and the white armband is their only insignia.

The real police power in the American area is military. But there are not enough MP's and security guards to perform all the police tasks so the military government leans on the German civilian police force to maintain order among civilians, including foreigners classified as displaced persons.

There is where the headaches begin for the unhappy police. Among their fellow Germans they manage fairly well, but to many of the recently liberated foreign workers the German policeman is just another German. The Russians are particularly contemptuous of these white arm banded patrolmen.

The spectacle of a small group of unarmed German policemen trying to handle a crowd of looters of mixed nationalities by threats and persuasion is pathetic. The wise ones show discretion and simply run for help to the American MP's or the military government officers. The bolder spirits have been targets of grenades or have been chased home by foreign huskies armed with knives and clubs.

The military government personnel called to the scene by such disturbances carry arms but naturally are reluctant to use them. The riotous DP's calm down upon seeing the men in American uniforms.

The German civilians invariably express relief that their area is occupied by the Americans rather than by other foreign troops. Their vaunted "bulwark against Bolshevism" had dwindled to an unarmed civilian policeman helpless against even a small crowd of looters, so they look to the Americans for protection.

So nobody knows better than the Germans that "the policeman's lot is not a happy one."

(Hal Boyle is now on his way home from Europe and, as soon as practicable, will go to the Pacific war theater at his own request, there to resume his column on a regular basis. In the meantime, other AP staff members will write his daily notebook).

By GEORGE TUCKER
Paris, (AP)—Elliot Paul wouldn't like the changes in Rue de la Huchette, the funny little French street he wrote about in his book "The Last Time I Saw Paris."

Most people who lived there when he did are dead or scattered and the few who remain are dragging around as though it hardly mattered much whether they get wherever they are going.

Even the dumpy, pint-sized Hotel du Caveau where he lived off and on for the greater part of 20 years before the war is abandoned. Its doors sag. Its proprietor is dead. Its windowpanes are long since beaten out. Its only tenants are a half-dozen stray cats.

Only Two Are Left
As Paul told the story it seemed such a vital little community—the sweet fresh strawberries in the grocer stalls, the sunlight splashing across Notre Dame, the girl called Hyacinth who listened to Chopin as no one else in all France listened to him, the doctor, the husband who drank away his daughter's dowry. But now along the shabby length of the street apparently only two people remain who knew Paul when he lived there.

They are Monsieur LaRoche, who tends the ancient newsstand next door to the hotel, and his wife.

The Three Musketeers
The street today seemed even more desolate, despite its bright sunlight and baskets of cherries, than it did last winter when I first visited it. At that time a newcomer to the neighborhood, Madame Colette Raffalli, who runs the Hotel du Mont Blanc, said she was being besieged by GI's asking about Paul.

"Elliot Paul is an American journalist—the man who made Rue de la Huchette famous," explained a correspondent who was with me at the time.

Madame Raffalli tossed her head. "Rue de la Huchette was famous long before Monsieur Paul was born," she said. "The Three Musketeers used to live in that hotel right across the street and Marie Antoinette had her love affairs here."

COOPERATION OF BIG POWERS IS HOPKINS' GOAL

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(Associated Press Diplomatic News Editor)

San Francisco, May 24 (AP)—The United States sought by firm and friendly negotiation today to prove that a foundation exists in the ruins of postwar Europe for an effective United Nations organization around the world.

That is the real significance seen by delegates at the United Nations conference in President Truman's dispatch of Harry Hopkins to Premier Stalin's Kremlin office.

These international experts from every quarter of the globe are emphasizing anew that if the great victorious nations of the war against Germany move hesitantly now to settle the first issues of peace, the world charter being drawn up here may not be worth its paper.

To Seek Direct Solution

Topping all these issues in gravity at the moment is the question of providing a more democratic government for Poland in accordance with the Yalta agreement. The prevailing belief here is that Hopkins' main assignment is to find in direct conversation with Stalin some way out of the deadlock between Russia and her western allies.

On the success of his efforts may very well hinge the possibility of a meeting soon among the chiefs of the United States, Britain and Russia. It is doubtful whether Mr. Truman would agree to final plans for such a big-three parley until he is convinced of prospects for concrete accomplishments on the Polish and other problems.

In recent weeks the big powers have attained a high degree of cooperation in the work of the San Francisco conference, ironing out smoothly their differences over regional defense systems within the world organization and their conflicting views on international supervision of dependent territories such as the Pacific Islands mandated to Japan after the last war.

Progress By Committees

The hardening of lines between Britain and the United States on one side and Russia on the other has caused grave concern among officials who contend that the projected world league can work only if those nations can solve within its framework, in future years, the same sort of difficulties that now divide them.

Within the conference, technical committees are making swift progress on the basic Dumbarton Oaks plan of world organization laid down by the sponsoring powers—the United States, Britain, Russia and China.

One committee last night approved provisions conferring on an 11-nation security council "primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security." The committee unanimously adopted a Canadian amendment which would make it compulsory on the council to make annual and special reports to the all-nation assembly.

Small Nations' Objection

But the authority of the great powers within the council, where they will hold five permanent seats, remained a sore point of controversy. The small nations battled the Yalta voting formula requiring that with her father, Raphael H. Smith, and family.

Mrs. Howard E. Eyster, York, was a recent visitor with local relatives. Linda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilton R. Miller, has been visiting relatives at Wyomissing.

Preparations are being made to conduct the annual Daily Vacation Bible School for two weeks during June. The Lutheran, Reformed and Methodist churches will participate.

Steady improvement has been reported in the condition of Mrs. Goldie M. Bower, local postmistress, who recently returned from the University of Pennsylvania hospital, Philadelphia, after an operation. Her daughter, Miss G. Arlene Bower R. N., remains in attendance.

Local Troop No. 86, BSA, in charge of Scoutmaster Thomas D. O'Brien, collected newspapers and magazines from townspeople on Saturday for the war effort.

Congressman William Lemke, North Dakota, will be guest speaker on Memorial Day when the annual exercises will take place at the Union cemetery in charge of Camp No. 60, Sons of Union Veterans. This organization is also preparing for the annual parade to begin at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, May 30.

There will be no further meeting of the Ladies' 500 club until September.

Recent visitors at the home of Mrs. James R. Weaver included her daughter, Cadet Nurse M. Agnes Weaver, Mt. St. Agnes college, Mt. Washington, Md., and her son-in-law, George C. DeVine, USN, who was on leave, with his wife and two children.

Miss Mary Kathryn Yingling has been chosen as a leader of local Girl Scout Troop No. 1.

Mrs. Amanda Fleckinger and Mrs. J. Arthur Donohue were recent visitors in Philadelphia where Mrs. Donohue's son, Robert, is recuperating after an operation performed at the Naval hospital.

Bruce Farr Martin, who had been stationed at Upper Darby with the armed forces, has been granted a medical discharge and has returned home with his wife and son, Farr, who had been also residing at Upper Darby.

LAST VESTIGES OF NAZI RULE ARE DISSOLVED

By WES GALLAGHER
Paris, May 24 (AP)—Germany entered an era of atonement today as the dissolution of the last vestiges of her government marked the end of the phase of disarmament through which she has been passing.

Germany has ceased to exist as a nation. She has no boundaries except as defined by the Allies. She is not united, because of the zones cut through the heart of the Reich marking off the various occupying armies. She has no political life, no economic life except as dictated by the Allies, and no social life.

Expressed fears that the Allies might install a puppet government from the remnants of Admiral Karl Doenitz' regime faded as the entire government and high command headed for prison camps. American and British military authorities had used the German high command to accomplish the Allied end of disarming the German army—and then wiped out that high command with a single stroke.

To Sift Out Criminals
Almost simultaneously came Gen. Eisenhower's order that German prisoners be screened and those over age and not war criminals be returned to Germany to work.

This screening will sift out the war criminals and those Nazis who will be headed for labor in war-ravaged countries—reparations in the form of work.

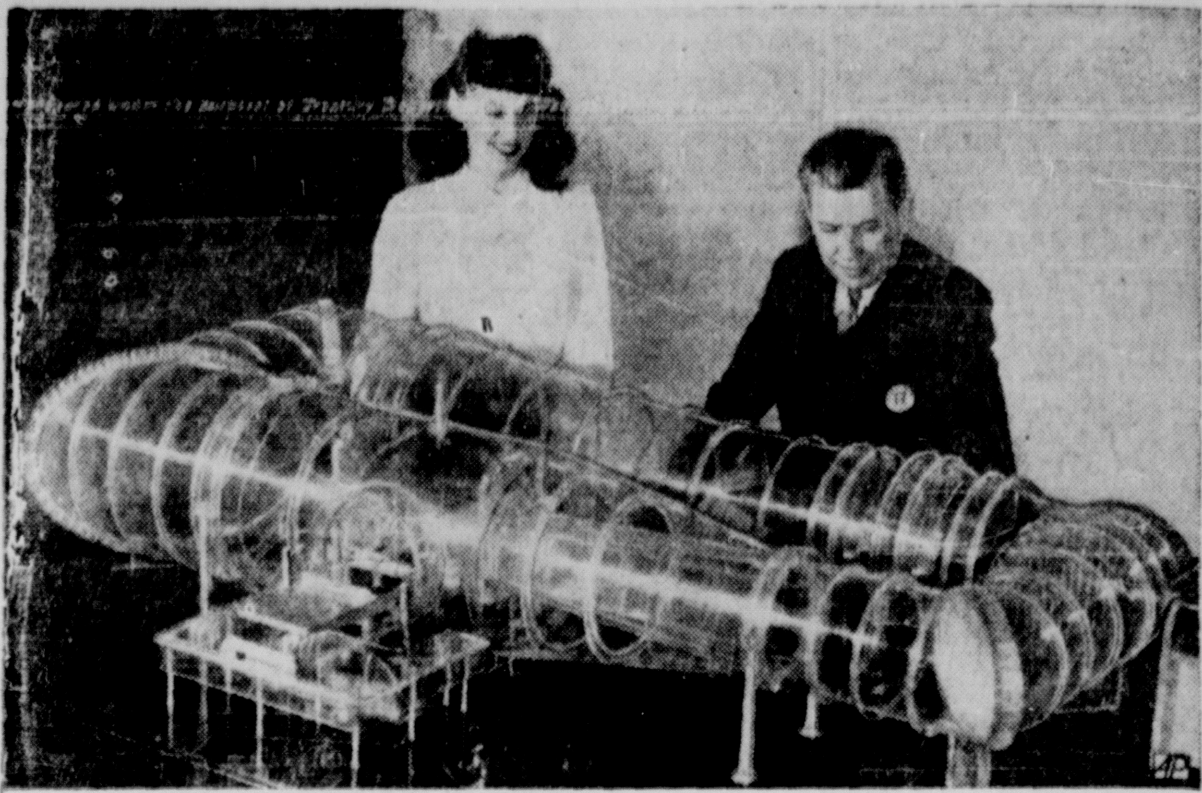

The only Germans left in any authority in the Reich were those municipal officials appointed by the Allies, and a few underlings of the Flensburg government, kept on the job under Allied supervision to straighten out and turn over essential records.

Probably at no time in history has a nation been so completely and so efficiently destroyed. Not even the Germans ever took over any country so completely in so short a time.

Eisenhower Handicapped
Most of this has been accomplished by the Allied supreme command under Gen. Eisenhower, which has been handicapped by the lack of any single fixed policy for all Allied governments.

The removal of Germany's policy makers by arrest now means that the only difference between the American and the British zones of occupation will be the extent to which Germans are used for administration. Administration by Germans under American control may be only on a city official level, while in a British zone it might be set at a kreis, or county, level.

The Russians have said nothing regarding their own zone. They have

40 CONSULTANT GROUPS BEING KEPT INFORMED

San Francisco, May 24 (AP)—The State Department has come out of the mothballs to play smarter pool. It's letting more people into its international business.

Behind it all is this: The State Department wants nation-wide backing on the idea of a world organization to keep peace.

So out of the United Nations Conference it invited as consultants the representatives of more than 40 national organizations ranging from labor, business and agriculture to fraternal groups.

When the State Department was getting ready for this conference it knew United States participation in a world organization will be examined critically by millions of Americans. It seemed a cinch that no league could suit everyone, because there are so many different interests in this country.

Before the United States can enter a world league the Senate must approve.

Informed Consultants
Senators are always under pressure to vote this way or that. If they approve of the job done at San Francisco, the consultant organizations can make their influence felt.

The consultant groups have consulted with State Department officials and the members of the American delegation step by step as the United Nations charter takes shape.

Not all that the different groups want can get into the charter. Some

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Don's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Don's Pills.

If this attention to the wishes and thoughts of various groups has the desired effect, they will go home with a sense of accomplishment, report favorably to the people they represent, and perhaps help win Senate ratification.

Deep dish fish pies are good seasoned with a little chilli powder and garlic salt.

HOW MUCH TO MOVE A WAR?

AS SOON as we can, we'll bring to bear on the Japs all the additional might we've been using against Germany.

What will it cost, this Moving Day of War?

Estimate it in these terms: The job of moving millions of men from one front to another. Thousands of ships to carry the supplies of battle. Swarms of new-type aircraft to blast the path into enemy territory.

You can get an idea of the cost from the fact that Uncle Sam needs 7 billions from us in the mighty Seventh War Loan—now!

The Seventh War Loan will call for the greatest bond-buying we have ever done.

If you have an income—whether from work, land, or capital—you have a quota in the 7th War Loan. Be sure to make it!
